CONSUMER GUARANTEES ACT (CGA)

You have certain rights under the CGA. These rights are expressed as a series of guarantees.

The principle guarantees applicable to the vehicle covered by this policy are that the vehicle must be of acceptable quality, fit for any particular purpose (you asked about or were told about) and matches any description given with the vehicle. In some circumstances the manufacturer or importer must also guarantee that spare parts and repair facilities are available for a reasonable time after the vehicle is sold to you.

Acceptable quality means goods do what they are made to do, are acceptable in appearance and finish, are free from minor defects and are safe and durable. What is reasonable and acceptable depends on what a reasonable consumer would think was acceptable based on the nature of the goods, the price paid and any statement that may have been made about the goods. If your vehicle fails to comply with any guarantee under this Act, you may require that the dealer remedies the failure within a reasonable time. You must give the dealer the first opportunity to remedy the failure – as long as the dealer complies with its obligations under the CGA, if you have the failure remedied elsewhere you will not be entitled to obtain your costs from the dealer. If the failure is of a substantial character, you may reject the vehicle within a reasonable time and choose to have either a refund or replacement. You may also be entitled to compensation for any other reasonably foreseeable loss or damage. If the dealer fails to comply with its obligations under the CGA, you may have the failure remedied elsewhere and obtain all reasonable costs incurred in having the failure remedied from the dealer.

Protection under this policy is additional to the rights you have under the CGA.

Various repairer costs not included in the insurance cover. (E.g., freight, tolls, and serviceables.)

Suspension components

A set of mechanical connections, springs, and dampers that connect the wheels to the chassis. Their main purpose is to produce a smooth and comfortable movement within the vehicle by reducing the vehicles bumps and jerks from inconsistencies in the road surface.

Total loss

A vehicle that is uneconomical to repair and/or unsafe to repair.

Total Value

The original price the policy holder paid for the vehicle.

GLOSSARY OF TERMS

Transferrable

The insurance policy can be passed to a new owner when the vehicle is sold privately (one time only, and within 14 days of the sale) by contacting Janssen Insurance.

Transmission Service

A transmission service is a regular part of routine car maintenance, just like an oil change. The primary aspect of a transmission service is flushing out the old transmission fluid and replacing it with new fluid. The transmission is what moves the driving power from the engine to the wheels.

Tuning

Re-setting to factory specifications during servicing.

Underwriting

To sign and accept liability under an insurance policy, thus guaranteeing payment in case loss or damage occurs within the terms of the policy terms and conditions.

Unforeseen (mechanical or electrical) failure.

Not caused by normally expected wear and tear of the vehicle over time.

Upholstery

Soft, padded textile covering that is used for vehicle seating and surrounds.

Usurped power

An organized military operation, either foreign or domestic, that seizes the powers legally conferred upon a government.

Vehicle maintenance warranty

This is a warranty provided by the manufacturer of the vehicle, or workshop that may (or may not) provide a guarantee for repair work completed on the vehicle.

Viruses

A piece of computer code that is capable of copying itself and typically has a harmful effect, such as damaging the system or destroying data.

Wear and tear

(Mechanical) wear and tear naturally occurs in individual machine parts because of abrasion, corrosion, or deterioration (damage) — even with normal use of the equipment. (Wear and tear is not the same as sudden or unforeseen damage and is therefore only covered by the policy under limited circumstances.)

WOF

Warrant of Fitness.
